THE EDITOR SPEAKS
 by Acolyte Rosaleah

I was wondering recently why there are so many folks walking around these days carrying something in their hands. Asking around about this phenomenon, I've discovered that there are several reasons:

Sometimes someone just wants to show off a new or rare item that they have. The best way to do that, of course, is to just hold the item in your hand and walk around. If it's a rare item, folks are bound to stop and ask about it ... so, if you own something a little bit unusual, this is a good way to meet people!

Some folks like to perform magic tricks with morphing items. These are people who are able to change, for instance, a cup of tea into a teapot when they gesture. And it can be handy to have something a little magical in your hand when you want to practice flight maneuvers: a chest seeming to cut off a head (but, of course, not actually doing hat) is a great magic trick that some perform.

There are those who hold snowballs in their hands waiting to pelt an unsuspecting avatar with it. And, of course, folks who hold something in their hands to *avoid* being snowball-pelted. ;)

Last, but most assuredly not least, are those who hold something in their hands to avoid being 'frooted.' What, you ask, does it mean to be frooted? Well, it seems that there's a slice of (by now very very old and hard and stale indeed) fruitcake that's being passed around from hand to hand to hand to hand. If you find yourself with the fruitcake in your hand, the idea is to get rid of it as soon as possible by giving it to another, who, of course, must get rid of the fruitcake as soon as possible ... we don't know who wins this game, if anybody ever does, but we've heard many a snicker as the fruitcake passes into the empty hand of an unsuspecting player-avatar.

So if you're standing around empty-handed ... and suddenly find yourself holding a piece of candy, or a slice of fruitcake, or an ice-cold snowball ... just remember ... you were warned! ;)

TRIBUTE TO AN HONEST AVATAR
by Dawna

I'm not normally in the habit of spending 1000 tokens on newbies, but I met a very nice fellow, who looked so confused. He had the head of a man, but the body of a woman. After hearing his story and getting to know him a little, I decided that the 1000 tokens I was carrying around would be wisely spent helping the fellow on his first day in WA.

His name was Demas-Type, and I bought him a new body. Immediately following the purchase he disappeared, just poof and he was gone. I was immediately suspicious, that I had been conned. Later that day, and many times the following couple of days, I tried paging him. He was obviously in Phantasus, but didn't answer. Sadly, I thought I had thrown away Tokens on a less than worthy fellow. Thankfully, I was wrong.

That sweet fellow Demas-Type had stayed on-line day in and day out, until he had earned enough tokens to pay me back!!!! He just couldn't see my messages while he was so hard at work.

I thought I'd share this superb example of integrity with all of you, so you could pat him on the back the next time you run into him in Kymer (and assuage my guilt a little at suspecting such an honorable fellow of wrongdoing in the first place).

So....a tip of the hat to you Demas-Type!

Holger and I have some special news to announce. The monthly prize this month for the ghost racing champ of January will be a King Tut head! Yes, the Oracles have let us know in advance that they will be providing us with two of these heads specially engraved for the race champs. One will go to the champion of Holger's races on Friday and one will be presented to the monthly race champ of the Monday games hosted by Acolyte Serena. That means one head will be won on January 26th and one on January 29th. Stay tuned to the Clarion, or come to the races to see the winners.

As a reminder, the races are every Monday at 5 PM WAT and the European version, every Friday at 11 AM WAT. All games are held in front of Isle Caribe, and there is a limit of two wins per week!

MONDAY RACE RESULTS
by Acolyte Serena

Winning one race each on Jan 8th were Mykey for 50T and Utopia who won a fern. Winning two races were Knight Eclectus, a snowball and 50T, Necrolyte Xian, a candle and 50T, Inazuma, hot chocolate and 50T, Huckleberry, 100T and a Frost Elf Head, and Mage Actionizer took home 50T and some roses in a vase.

This puts Necrolyte Xian and Huckleberry in the lead with 4 wins each, closely followed by Utopia, Inazuma and Mage Actionizer who all have 3 wins so far this month.

Winning small tokens of appreciation for coming were Duckolyte Matt, Gaetan, Compuchip, lil'angel, Jervis Pax, Bruce G., Wild Flower, Five Spice and Aule. I'd like to thank all those who attended and continue to make this one fine game to host.

REGISTER NOW!
by Marianne G

!!IMPORTANT NOTICE!!

REGISTER NOW! Send in your registration for any or all of the contests below to 72007,221 or 76571,1241. Dates for the events are January 21st and 28th at 5 PM WAT at the StarWay Stage. Register early for additional information on your category!

!!IMPORTANT NOTICE!!

The Bloodline is working on a talent show of sorts, and you are the contestants! Contestants can compete in any number of the competitions. Contests and dates are:

TO BE HELD JAN 21st AT 5 PM WAT AT THE STARWAY STAGE:

1) Comedy acts - contestants must have a comedy routine that lasts no less than 2 minutes, and no longer than 5. Jokes must be fit to be shared in front of every member of the family! No profanity, off color, or discrimination allowed. A minimum of two of the jokes must center on the dreamscape! Anything from a "funny thing happened to me on the way to the Teleporter...." to whatever you come up with. Contestants will be judged not only on the quality of jokes, the amount of them that do concern our dream, but also presentation.

2) Pet Tricks - Your pet can be a canary, a fuzzie, a head, a fern, your new teddy bear or anything you wish. Imagination is the key to this contest, so don't leave it home. Contestants will be judged on presentation, pet care and handling, and imagination.

TO BE HELD JAN 28th AT 5 PM WAT AT THE STARWAY STAGE:

3) Wave Competition - This is a competition that is gotten from Kymer's History. This competition was regularly held on Caribe. This is a team competition, and teams should be an number of avatars from 3 to 6 to participate in the contest. As a side note, there can also be more then one in the groups competing in the other contests. You can sing a duet or quartet, you can present your story as a play, you can have more then one handler of your pet, or you can try to make your mark as the Abbott and Costello or whatever of the dreamscape. Just make sure you register all members of the group in advance. In this contest, however, you have to have a minimum of three avatars to perform. Each wave team generally base their movements/story on a theme, which can be based on Kymer History, Caribe History, a dream-scape event, or anything having to do with the dream and the avatars presence in it. Contestants normally stand in a line and narrate the story/theme using sychronized movements to illustrate it. Teams will be judged on your theme and your ability to convey it, your presentation, and the sychronization of movement among team members. Some teams may choose to have one speaker, off to the side, while the others perform the movements.

CHAOS, Inc
by Marianne G

!!IMPORTANT NOTICE!!

All those who have a game plan and wish to try it out at CHAOS, Inc or those who have previously submitted game ideas, contact me at 72007,221 to schedule a date when you will be able to host it at CHAOS for all to help you try it out!

!!IMPORTANT NOTICE!!

Coming in January or Feburary, we hope to bring you the KYMER SEARCH FOR KNOWLEDGE and the CHAOS SCRAMBLE. There are also some great game ideas coming in and we hope to present them soon!

Last week, we tried out Mind Boggle again, but with a slight twist. This version took two to hostess and my thanks to Necrolyte SunRay White Rose for her help. In boggle, a word or phrase is put up, and the contestants take the letters available in the original to make up new words, with just a few restrictions.

Competing last week were Shibu, Duckolyte Mage Scutter, Davey Boy, and @thena. Top scoring was Pegasus in third, Compuchip in second and Gillian took first place by a bare 2 points over second!

Once again, we like to thank everyone who has the patience to come and try CHAOS. So far, I don't think there has been one game we've introduced that has not been total fun to host or play in.

I should mention, that some of the upcoming games may take us out of our one area location, as they need to be played all over the city. So, if you wish to participate, come early to the Bar-L Bar Storeroom, every Wednesday at 5 PM WAT to be there at the start for instructions and rules. This way, you don't have to worry about no one being there if you are late. In which case, you may have to wait there till we return at the end of the round. Thank you for your co-operation.

KYMER FAMILY FEUD
by Marianne G

This was to originally be a CHAOS event, but this is too big even for CHAOS, so it's been turned over to the Bloodline to host in February. It's based on Family Feud, and team play will be necessary. There will be weekly games, with the last game of the month to determine the winning team.

To host this game, survey questions must be provided by members of the dream, and that's everyone out there. You will see these questions posted here, and on the board, and we ask that you respond to as many as possible. Use your CUT and PASTE to put the questions into an E-Mail, add your answers, and send them in to me at 72007,221 and thanks in advance for your help. The questions are answered, and for the most coverage, some may appear in more than one place. Please use the numbers to insure you have not answered the same question more than once.

This is on the order of, "with 78 kymerians responding to a survey, the top answer to this question ????? was?", so please, no essay responses, keep your answers to a few words :D Also, please don't discuss your answers with others, as I hope that the teams who play have not taken their own survey on the questions :D

SURVEY QUESTIONS:

TALENT WINNERS!

by Marianne G

Last night, as in Jan 14th, at 5 PM WAT, we held the Bloodline Talent contest on the StarWay Stage. This was the Story Telling and Singing Contests, and I'd like to thank all who attended. Our judges were BLD RazzaMaTazz, Acolyte Nicci (who Acolyte Milen took over from when she had to leave) and BLD Raven. They did an excellent job of judging, which is a job I'd never want to do.

As for the contestants, I'd like to make an open invitation to send the songs and stories in to be published in future issues of the CLARION, so they can be shared with all and become a part of Kymer's history. Just send them to 72007,221 which, yes, is also where you can send in if you wish to register for the remaining three contests, (see REGISTER NOW! in this issue of the CLARION). Who knows, when inworld documents become possible, we may be able to produce a book with all your works in it!

On to the contest winners. There were three competing for the best Story, so all three placed. Coming in Third was Necrolyte SunRay White Rose with her story of the Phantom Of The Stage. Now I know where all those strange sounds were coming from! Thanks, White Rose. In Second place, SunRay Hera told us of her first day on the Island, and told us how Passion had helped her out. Yea Hera, a great story and kudo's to Passion for giving it a happy ending. In first place, Christopher Storm told a story of Arrival that ;;shudder;; made my trip across on the ARGO seem very tame. Oh, yes, there was that hassle at the docks over the choke machine, and I was ummmm rather upset when I lost my Ponytail, but it was nothing compared to this outside the Bar-L Bar last week. What an act these froggies-- Actionizer, Nicole, Kermit, and DonG--put on! They stood in front of each other, waved wildly about, jumped up as high as only frogs can jump, and generally caused quite a screensight! Wow!

We overheard Shaker wonder about whether he'd have to vacuum his turf when he got one. ::shudder:: Housework? Here? Perish the thought!

There have been a few reports of the snow trying to escape from Meditation park, and even one report that places an Oracle outside the entrance with a snow shovel. We certainly don't want the snow to cover up those colorful leaves that have piled up outside the park, so we're glad to learn the Oracles are taking care of seeing that the snow stays in SantaLand where it looks its prettiest.

When a protest broke out on the streets of the city, protesting the lack of turfs, the protestors were surprised when the Oracle joined them. The most surprising to one of the protestors was that the Oracles had better slogans! :D

All those parked avatars who stand around and don't say anything seem to be creating a new fad. They take their heads off and hold them in their hand as they stare at the fountains or buildings, turning their face away from others. Perhaps this makes them easier to i.d. as stoned, and helps you to know you can avoid saying hi to them without their thinking you're rude.

We've seen some acolytes that aren't really acolytes around lately, some with well known and some with names not very well known at all. They may think they can fool you, but you can always click on a real acolyte and read the Tell Me About to find out if it REALLY is a true Acolyte. When it comes to Acolytes, everyone on the isle of Kymer knows who they are, not just their hairdressers.

Speaking of fashion, the hip of hip, the designer of the top looks in the city, Passion, is now showing off some of the Scuttle and Clover Auction heads to their best advantage. Way to go, Passion! ;)

KYMER COLLECTIBLES AUCTION!

StarWay Stage, January 12 -- Hosted by Scuttle and Clover
by Acolyte VIQer

This week's auction brought a new attendance record. At one point in time, there were 70 ghosts waiting in the clouds, as Scuttle brought out item after item to be auctioned off!

On stage there were heads being modeled that were to be sold. Scuttle guarantees these items to be rare and unavailable to the public. Even a single piece of Light Blue candy was sold for 200 tokens!! Two pieces of candy were sold... Second one brought in 275... Wert P. Gumby must have been very hungry to pay 4050 tokens for that whole turkey!

There was a variety of items being sold. We saw a blue fuzzie which I picked up for someone else. I came prepared <GRIN>. There were surely enough heads to take care of any head collectors attend-ing. The very small Jack O-lantern brought in 2450 tokens..

But the item that brought in the highest amount by far, was the rare Nefertitti head from beta testing days... Not seen for a long time until it was being shown around the city prior to the auction.. This head brought in an unprecedented amount of 11,000 tokens!! Bid had started at 10,000. The only offer made was from Dakota.. Little did she know her bid didn't have to be any higher than 10.5K!!

Many people commented to me afterward how they had enjoyed the auction. They came in just to be here for the auction that night.. Bids were hard and furious in most cases.. The action was fast paced as Scuttle tried to divert the questions to Clover.. And keep up with all the bids!

The final bids for all the items for sale this time were:

|                              |   |        |
|------------------------------|---|--------|
| 1 piece of Halloween candy   | - | 200T   |
| 1 piece of Halloween candy   | - | 275T   |
| Halloween Trick or Treat Bag | - | 700T   |
| Turkey Drumstick             | - | 2,000T |
| Pumpkin Head                 | - | 2,300T |
| Jack O'Lantern (carryable)   | - | 2,400T |
| Fuzzie - Blue                | - | 2,600T |
| Turkey breast                | - | 3,300T |
| Vampire Head                 | - | 3,400T |

|                 |   |         |
|-----------------|---|---------|
| Chocolate Pie   | - | 3,750T  |
| Turkey (whole)  | - | 4,050T  |
| Skull Head      | - | 4,100T  |
| Skull Head      | - | 4,200T  |
| She's Dead Head | - | 5,700T  |
| Nefertitti Head | - | 11,000T |

Be there next time... Read the Collectibles Catalog in Library # 3 of the Community Forum. GO TRA-39 gets you into the forum.. There is sure to be plenty of heads and other odd and rare collectibles for sale!

EVENT SCHEDULING CHANGES

By Acolyte Brynne

As I'm sure you have read, the Scheduling Group is making a change in the way it is posting the Event Listing in the Inworld Events Section of the WA Community Forum. This change will probably have little or no effect on you; but it will have a major effect on the way I, on behalf of the Kymer Clarion, gather the event scheduling information.

Until now, I have copied the two-week event schedule posted, extracted the days which cover the publication period of the Kymer Clarion (Wednesday through Tuesday), added any announced events I may receive in my email box or which I might find in the WA Community Forum which may not be included on the listing posted by the Scheduling Group, and published it. This will now all have to change.

Effective with the SG's change, each Saturday, my deadline to the Rotating Clarion Editor, I will be downloading the listing posted by Scheduling Group that day. This however, will only provide the schedule through the following Friday plus any non-recurring events up to a month in advance; yet the Clarion publication period ends the Tuesday following the last date covered by the SG's listing.

In an effort to bring you as accurate an Event Schedule as possible, it will now be necessary for the Clarion to create its own schedule from scratch, using as a basis the information the SG has provided with regard to recurring events. I will be checking the SG's listing each Saturday to insure all events my schedule reflects are still occurring, and adding to my schedule any which may appear on the SG list but not on mine.

I will also continue doing as I have always done: reading the WA Community Forum Inworld Events Section for any events being held during the Clarion's publication period which do not, for whatever reason, appear on the listing posted by the SG.

However, because I am fallible and because I may not always catch an event that has been posted in the forum, if hosts want to be absolutely sure their events will be listed in the Kymer Clarion Schedule of Events, released each Tuesday evening, hosts are encouraged to submit their event information to me, Acolyte Brynne, at 71273,373. The deadline for these submissions is by no later than 3:00 p.m. WAT every Saturday, for the period covering the following Wednesday through Tuesday. The submission to the Kymer Clarion is IN ADDITION to submitting your event information to the Scheduling Group.

The Kymer Clarion assumes no responsibility for resolving scheduling conflicts; this task will remain under the jurisdiction of the Scheduling Group.

If currently recurring events are changed in any way, besides notifying the Scheduling Group, should you wish the Kymer Clarion Schedule of Events to reflect your event(s) accurately, please *also* submit the change of information to me as noted above.

On behalf of the Kymer Clarion staff, I will continue to do my best to provide you with the most accurate and the most useful Schedule of Events I can. If you have any suggestions as to how the format of the schedule can be changed to better meet your needs (as long as it is restricted to ASCII text for now please), please let me know!
